

SACHI Invites You to a Unique Presentation on the Art of Puppetry:

Unraveling the Mysteries of Ancient Puppetry in India/Karnataka

A Lecture Demonstration

Monday

July 15, 2019

7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.

Location:

Home Event
in Los Altos Hills
(address provided upon RSVP)

Limited Seating

Please RSVP
by visiting HERE

415-994-4366

info@sachi.org

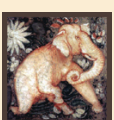

Images Courtesy Anupama Hoskere

Anupama Hoskere is a Master Puppeteer of Classical Puppetry of India. Following a brief discussion of the origins of puppet theater in ancient India, she will lead viewers through a journey of her own experimentation and explorations that resulted in the revival of this beautiful art form. The talk will be supported by video clippings from her 20 plus live-stage productions of tales from the Indian epics and literary masterpieces. Her productions have combined classical Indian dance with the use of puppetry.

Anupama was trained in classical Indian Bharatanatyam by Late Guru Smt. Narmada and in the Art of Puppetry by Guru M.R. Ranganatha Rao. She is the director of Dhaatu Puppet theatre www.dhaatu.org and on the Advisory Board of Sangeet Natak Akademi, New Delhi (Puppetry Cell). She has been a TEDx speaker at the GITAM University, Vizag, has presented at the Musee Guimet, Paris, Cedar African Theater Festival, Morocco, the International Puppet Festivals in Nanchong, China and Samara, Russia, amongst others. Anupama has taught courses in Traditional Indian Puppetry at European Universities and in India. These include workshops at NID, Bangalore and a course at Azim Premji University.

The Presentation will include a brief, live puppet dance demonstration.

SACHI
Society for Art & Cultural Heritage of India
www.sachi.org

SACHI extends special thanks to Rekha Pai & Anil Kamath and Vrinda & Vasudev Bhandarkar for generous program support.